Good-Bye Winter, Hello Cherry Blossom Time

By Pat Sugrue

As this article is being written, the weather forecast is for several inches of snow, which we hope will be the last such forecast for the winter of 2016. But regardless, by the time you are reading this, the cherry blossoms in Ben Brenman Park should be blooming.

For those who moved here after 2006, you may not know the history of our cherry blossom trees. Former resident Cindy McCartney (proprietor of Diva consignment shop in Old Town Alexandria) spearheaded a campaign to beautify Brenman Park by planting cherry trees around the lake, similar to the ones around the Tidal Basin in Washington, DC.

The trees were purchased by Alexandria residents in memory or honor of someone or some special occasion; and the names were engraved on a bronze memorial plaque on the wall at the Somervelle Street/Brenman Park Drive entrance to the park.

The First Annual Cherry Blossom Festival was held in April 2006, with Cameron Perks, the community’s first coffee house, the official Host Sponsor. Under the direction of Cindy and Perks’ co-owner Mike Fleming, many Cameron Station neighbors volunteered their time and energy; but unfortunately, the day brought monsoon-like rains and hurricane-like winds. They dampened the festival, but not the spirits of the organizers and attendees. The memorial plaque was dedicated in May of that year, and remains a beautiful addition to Brenman Park.

Three issues of the 2006 Compass – January/February, March/April, and May/June – contain articles and photos if you’d like more details. Sadly, there has been no Second Annual Cherry Blossom Festival, as its main organizers, Cindy and Mike, moved from the community, and no one took over the event.

But the trees keep growing, the blossoms keep blooming, and there’s a festival just waiting to happen for anyone who’d like to give it a go!
Creating a Healthier Community, One Resident at a Time

By Debbie Routt

Psy Scott came to Cameron Station about a year ago, through a ProFit contract from the U.S. Patent and Trade Office. His goal: to make the community vibrant. When he first arrived, he watched residents come in to work out and use the equipment in the fitness center. He noticed that few faces were smiling. The “energy” didn’t match the “landscape.” Few stopped to say “hello” or “good morning.” Others were taken aback when he initiated conversation. People didn’t even know if they were working out next to a neighbor. Nobody seemed to know anyone else from across the community.

How things have changed in the course of one year. Psy’s life has been an unusual, rich, and rewarding journey. In his formative years, Psy shuttled among Brooklyn, New York, Carrollton, Virginia, and the District of Columbia. He now lives in the Bloomingdale neighborhood, just two miles from the Capitol.

He remembers watching his aunt train in ballet class. He studied at the University of Maryland, went into the electronics business, and later transitioned into the culinary arts. Next, he migrated to the film, broadcast, and music industries. He’s worked with Laz Alonso, Tito Puente, Puerto Rican Power, and many others, and has even danced with Marc Anthony. Psy says he’s “always been a dancer,” and that dance and music have always called to him. While he used to dance seven days a week, he now manages two days weekly, because he teaches dance. Psy believes there is a symbiotic relationship between teaching and dance. He is also passionate about teaching and making connections, one at a time. Psy says:

“I’ve seen all the gimmicks. But you know what? ‘Old school’ works! It’s not the new or the novel. Ask yourself: ‘What am I trying to do? What do I really want?’ You have to be realistic with yourself, and your expectations. If you want it, go get it; make it happen!”

Hummers, Honey Bees, and Butterflies, Oh My!

By Debbie Routt

Have you ever wondered how to get hummingbirds, honey bees, and butterflies to visit your garden this season? It’s pretty easy.

A good way to enjoy the company of hummingbirds is to plant a hummer garden. In addition to providing them with a natural diet, a hummer garden is an excellent way to attract birds to your nearby feeder: since hummingbirds feed by sight on regularly followed routes – called trap-lining – their inquisitive nature will quickly lead them to investigate any possible new source of food. If you plan carefully and select a variety of plants that bloom at successively later dates, you will be rewarded with happy hummers throughout the season.

Using pesticides around hummingbird plants is a bad idea. Killing garden pests will also eliminate the small insects hummingbirds rely upon for protein. In addition, hummers might directly ingest pesticides sprayed onto flowers, which could make them sick or even kill them. Remember: if you wouldn’t eat it yourself, don’t feed it to a hummingbird.

Since hummers, like most birds, have virtually no sense of smell, the flowers that attract them tend to have little or no fragrance, apparently directing their resources instead toward high visibility and nectar production. Note: cultivated hybrids often make much less nectar than wild strains. While you should visit your local nursery for suggestions specific to your climate and area, here are some plants to consider for your humming garden:

- Azalea
- Butterfly Bush
- Honeysuckle
- Morning Glory
- Trumpet Creeper
- Bee Balm
- Lemon Balm
- Bachelor’s Button
- Catnip
- Lemon Mint
- Coriander
- Purple Coneflower
- Lavender
- Black-Eyed Susan
- Sweet Clover
- Heather
- Thyme
- Cosmos
- Aster
- Oregano
- Sage
- Crocus

Honeybees collect both pollen and nectar from flowers. Both are food sources that are processed by the bees and stored back at the hive. Bees prefer to work large patches of the same type of flower. So having large individual areas, or drifts, of one kind of flowering plant will ensure the bees will get the most benefit from your garden. Bees also like simple flowers where they can easily get to the nectar and pollen. Like hummers, bees seem to prefer flowering plants that have not been hybridized. Double flowers, which have been bred to develop extra petals, are difficult for honey bees to work.

For butterflies, just like hummers and honey bees, try to choose plants for your garden that are native to Virginia. Like hummers and honey bees, nectar-producing plants are integral to a successful butterfly garden. Native flowering dogwood, sassafras, New Jersey tea, spicebush, sweet pepperbush, Virginia sweetspire, and buttonbush are all excellent choices to attract butterflies. In addition to the flowering shrubs listed, numerous annuals will attract butterflies to your garden. Many of these can easily be grown from seed, including cosmos, marigolds, sunflowers, verbenas, and zinnias.

One garden alone can’t save the birds, bees, or butterflies, but if each of us plants just a few flowers or shrubs, what a difference in the world we could make! For more tips on how to attract hummingbirds, honey bees, butterflies, and other pollinators to your Cameron Station garden, go to http://www.gardeners.com/how-to/attracting-butterflies-hummingbirds/7265.html and http://www.fs.fed.us/wildflowers/pollinators/documents/AttractingPollinatorsV5.pdf.
Creating a Healthier Community

Psy also thinks that we shouldn’t let anything, or anyone, stop us from achieving what we want, particularly when it comes to one’s life and health. Channel anger, frustration, or negative self-image into something positive. Be patient. Take the first step. Stick with it. Change happens over time. “You have to be obsessed with getting what you want. If you want to lose weight, enjoy good health, be stronger or more flexible, then you need to become consumed with making that happen.”

Psy also insists on diversity in fitness training, just as in life. “I have diverse tastes in music, food, friends, clubs, restaurants, events at the Kennedy Center, you name it.” Fitness and exercise are no different: you need muscle confusion, abs/core training, cardio, and weights. After his first year with ProFit at Cameron Station, Psy is most proud of the fact that people who use the fitness center know each other a little better, and he can feel a sense of camaraderie across the community. Neighbors not only know each other better, but they also look forward to working out together. He cited one resident – one of his “regular” Fitness Center students – who had considered moving away from Cameron Station, but reconsidered once she started the new fitness classes. Psy knows that like so many of his students, she is in better shape now than some 20-25 year olds!

Is Psy content with these results? No! While he’s happy that there is a greater variety of classes, and participation has increased, he has set his sights on integrating the community even more through fitness. Psy says that he wants “to work with more kids across Cameron Station and help them achieve their health and fitness goals,” and that “the Fitness Center should be bustling with kids 24/7, and [we should] build upon basketball with Coach Houston.”

If you haven’t already done so, check out the stretch and core workouts at the Fitness Center, or try the complimentary yoga classes or Zumba. Cameron Station residents can enjoy free classes daily every week. For class information, check out the monitor in the clubhouse, print out the monthly calendar of classes from the Cameron Station website, or pick up a calendar at the Fitness Center front desk. You can also request Fitness Center updates by adding your name to the email blast list by writing fitness@cameronstation.org and requesting that your name be added to the email blast.

Here’s what neighbors say about the Fitness Center class resources:

“I love my exercise class company. I’ve gotten much more fit and can really feel that my strength has increased as a result. Absolutely!” – Manorma Malik

“Coming to the classes sets the tone for my whole day, five days a week. They make me feel great.” – Pam Vokey

“Core/abs and weight exercise classes are well-attended every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. The actual exercise routine may change, but it’s all about the core. This group laughs and complains, but it enjoys Activities Director Psy Scott’s style and enthusiasm. We all like the results on our health, too. Yoga classes on Tuesday and Thursday are a complement to the stretch and core workouts. Many of us participate in all of these classes. We don’t want to miss any of them, since something would be missing from our day. Come join us. There is always room for one more mat.” – Marilyn Means

So the next time you stop by the Fitness Center, say “hi” to Psy Scott, thank him for helping to make Cameron Station a great place to live, work, play, and be fit.

P.S. He also likes pie and cobbler!

It’s getting to be the season that plant people love most: Spring Time! The garden centers will soon be stocking their shelves with spring’s colorful blooms, and perennials will be shoving through the soil in our small gardens. Here are some tips worth considering to help your personal patch look fresh and eye-catching for the 2016 season.

Early spring is the time to give the garden a good cleanup. Remove dead leaves and odd trash bits that blew under the bushes, trim back perennials to encourage new growth, and consider what worked the previous year and what didn’t. Remember, however, not to prune the azaleas this time of year, lest you remove the blooming tips. The same advice applies to hydrangeas; they bloom on old wood. If you’re not sure whether you are removing potential buds or not, leave them for later.

Is it time to call in the professionals? Maybe you have trees and bushes that are getting out of hand, either left by a previous owner, or on your “too-hard-to-do” list. Before the Cameron Station management administrator sends a warning that “the tree” is an issue, consider hiring professionals to do a once-over. They can trim up trees, get rid of established weeds, trim bushes to a pleasing shape that is comfortably removed from sidewalks and walls, and maybe plant a few perennials with a new mulch cover. Once everything is just right, it’s so much easier to do minor maintenance to keep things in line. And, if you ask them what maintenance to do, they will gladly tell you.

Doing nothing isn’t an option. Either do the work yourself or hire someone to do it. Be honest about your skills, tools, and willingness to do heavy work. Almost every attractive garden in Cameron Station had the help of a professional hand to get it started or give it shape and focus. For those who prefer lower maintenance gardens that still look nice, the annual once-over by professionals is the answer.

Many residents like container plants for balconies and entries. The instant color has a lot of appeal. Be sure to consider whether your plants will be in sun or shade and how much effort you’ll put into keeping them alive throughout the summer. Pots, hanging baskets, or window boxes in full sun will need daily watering in the summer, sometimes both in the mornings and evenings of the hottest days. Pots in protected spots can go out as early as mid-April. More exposed areas should not be exposed until the last official frost date of early May.

Large containers look best with a plant mix in a specific color arrangement, a mix of textures, and at least one tall plant and one that cascades over the side. Be sure that all plants in one pot have similar needs, such as needing the same amount of sun or having similar preferences for moisture or dryness. The little tags in plant pots have this information. Be wary of the full growth potential of each plant before you purchase it. All tiny plants are equally cute. By late season, one might dwarf the others and look very scrawny and out of place, or even smother the smaller plants.

Note that many garden centers sell blooming, cool weather plants in early spring. They look good immediately, but the summer heat will eventually kill them. Pansies, in particular, are “spring-only” flowers. If you plan for your potted plants to last through the season, look for ones that bloom through the fall and can handle heat well. Garden center staff can be very helpful in guiding your purchases. Or, you may decide to enjoy pansies through May and then buy summer begonias or vincas for the hottest months. Whatever you decide, think of the impact it will make and how much pleasure it will give the passers-by.

The Cameron Station Volunteer Gardeners are ready to help if you want to get some new ideas for this year. We live here and know the challenges of the rocky soil and deep shade. Contact us at gardeners@cameronstation.org, and we’ll set up a consultation at a convenient time for you.

Happy spring, and happy gardening!
Wounded Warriors Annual Bake Sale

By Dubey Lifmann

The Wounded Warriors annual Bake Sale will be held on Saturday, May 7, from 9am to 1pm, at the London Curry House. Please consider donating home baked goods for this event – contact Dubey Lifmann at 703-370-6362 or dubeyd@comcast.net. Also, please stop by on that Saturday to purchase some delicious goodies. This is our only fundraiser for the year.

Throughout the year, we accept donations of new clothing or cash for the Wounded Warriors. In January 2016, we visited the hospital with winter clothing, and we barely finished putting the clothes on the table before they were all taken. We will return again this spring.

To make a donation at any time, or for more information, please contact Dubey. Thank you for your generosity.

Do You Know Your Civic Association?
By Mike Lekias, Cameron Station Civic Association Liaison

We would like to know you! Come to the next Cameron Station Civic Association meeting on May 4 and find out about new plans and developments happening in our area. The Civic Association works on outside civic issues (including redevelopment, traffic, and recreation) that affect the quality of life within and around our community. There currently are several redevelopment projects underway, including new housing, new eateries (Portner Brewhouse and Jimmy Johns), and a West End Transitway that will reshape the future look and feel of the area. It’s an exciting time to be living in Alexandria!

HARD AT WORK ON BEHALF OF OUR RESIDENTS

Activities & Events Planning Committee

Architectural Review Committee
By Elizabeth McAlee

The Architectural Review Committee (ARC) is working with residents to process applications on landscaping, deck and fence repairs, and home improvements. Residents are asked to submit an application for work to be done before the process is begun. In some cases, Meghan Marville, the Covenants Administrator, may be able to give approval for some applications, so residents may not have to wait for the monthly ARC meeting. Deck and fence repainting and repair applications may be approved by Ms. Marville if the colors/materials are part of the list already approved by the ARC.

Please look into your Design and Maintenance Standards (DMS) handbook before beginning any project, as it contains helpful guidelines for almost any project.

Common Area Committee
By Kathy McCollom

The Common Area Committee (CAC) is getting ready for spring with many tree replacements already done throughout the community, and improved plantings along Duke Street coming soon. Originals are either declining or damaged in some places. In addition, the CAC will place more perennials along Duke Street for a seasonal color effect.

Additional brick walks in the Gazebo Circle are now pending city approval. Now that the water pump house is gone, the additional walkway pattern will be completed.

The CAC investigated replacing street lights with LED lights. The technology is still new and expensive, and is not yet competitively priced. CAC will reinvestigate the possibility when the technology is more mature and there is a better balance between initial costs and long term energy savings.

Residents have been reporting yard cuttings, branches, and discarded Christmas trees along the Linear Park and behind plantings in common areas. The trash company will pick these up at residences as long as branches are trimmed down to fit in a clear, larger lawn/leaf bag or tied in a bundle.

Communications Committee
By Kimberly Dillon

The Communications Committee has been hard at work to promote our community, initially by updating the Cameron Station website, and now by revamping the Welcome Packet by updating its content and modernizing its look – all as part of our efforts to show potential homeowners the benefits of living in this wonderful neighborhood!

Cameron Club Facilities Committee
By Ray Celeste

The CCFC would like to thank the Board of Directors for their outstanding support of the Clubhouse and especially the Fitness Center.

The Board of Directors has made most of the Fitness Center classes complimentary. By doing this, we have more residents than ever attending classes. Additionally, the Board approved the following equipment purchases for this fiscal year: three treadmills, two recumbent cycles, and a new set of dumbbells. The use of our equipment is very heavy, so we are grateful to be able to make these purchases to continue to offer our residents a superb Fitness Center that has up-to-date equipment, and is very well-managed by ProFit.

Financial Advisory Committee
By Jeff Gathers

For the past several months, the Financial Advisory Committee (FAC) has been closely monitoring the progress in the conduct of Cameron Station’s updated "Reserve Study" and will continue to do so for the next several months. Community associations are required by statute to engage an engineering professional, at least once every five years, to assess the current condition and future projected repair needs of all the physical elements (structures, landscapes, streets, sidewalks, etc.) managed at the direction of the Board of Directors. This comprehensive, on-site engineering examination of Cameron Station’s common buildings and grounds, known as a Reserve Study, is already mostly complete.

There are specific pickups every year for whole Christmas trees. Please do not “hide” them behind other plants or behind homes.

Get Back in Shape

By Elin Kanchev

Were you once in shape, and then life happened? Work, kids, lack of time, or stress?

I hear you. Let me share a fast and a simple daily ritual that will take just a few minutes and make you feel better: You will regain your physical awareness and the feeling of control over your body – your most basic and important vehicle.

Follow these basic, yet effective, steps every morning as you wake up:

1. While you are still in bed and trying to open your eyes, put a smile on your face and stretch your body. Stretch it up, all the way, as if you are watching your pet stretching right after waking up.

2. Jump to your feet and remember to keep your smile on.

3. Drink a glass or two of room-temperature water. Keep the smile (cautiously!) while drinking your water.

4. Stand up straight with your feet shoulder-width apart. Keep perfect posture (head, shoulders, hips, knees, and ankles aligned). The smile is still there, right?

5. Let’s get going! Using your full available range of motion, at a comfortable speed, start doing each of the following 10 times:

   - Rotate your head left and right, then up and down;
   - Roll your shoulders (trapezius) forward and backward. Hold your hands together, keep your arms straight down and perform circular motions from your shoulders, so your traps are getting some blood;
   - Rotate your arms from the shoulder in giant circles, first forward and then backward;
   - Rotate your forearms, spinning at the elbows, first forward and then backward;
   - Roll your wrists in circles, using one hand to comfortably guide the other around;
   - Make big circles with your hips like you are spinning a hula-hoop;
   - With your hands on your knees, rotate your knees in circles;
   - With one foot at a time, plant your big toe and make circles with each foot to rotate your ankles;

That’s it! I hope you kept your smile the entire time. Do you feel better already? I bet. If you want to learn more ways to regain fitness and create better habits for yourself, I am more than happy to help. You can reach me at Elinkanchev@gmail.com, or check out my personal training website at http://elinkanchev.com/.
Get Involved in Your Community and Have Fun, Too!

By Radhika Goel

What really makes a community a great place to live is the involvement of its members. Through events and volunteers, the neighborhood can build a sense of unity and enjoyment for all. Organized social events every few weeks help to get homeowners together and allow everyone to get to know each other. People are more apt to participate if they feel comfortable with the people they'll be working with and have built friendships. So here are some events that the Activities & Events Planning Committee (AEPC) organized this year to do its part in building a community:

January 8: Adult Movie Night – The film Cinema Paradiso was shown, with over 21 residents in attendance. Pizza and fresh popcorn was served. A discussion of the movie was led by David Woodhead.

January 20: Poker Night – This quarterly event continues to attract lively participation.

January 28: Board Game Night Happy Hour – The event, suggested by Pat Sugrue and Pat McCombie, attracted 28 residents, who heartily engaged in various games, and requested a repeat of the event. Pizza and popcorn were provided.

February 7: Superbowl Party – This party was held at Taste of Asia Restaurant, with more than 30 people watching the game and enjoying special appetizers and entrees offered by the host.

February 19: Mardi Gras Happy Hour – 63+ people mingled, participating in “musical hat,” the cutting of the King’s Cake, and other games, and enjoyed beignets and other delicacies. The treasure hunt game was a bit hit among attendees.

February 28: Oscars Night Party – More than 32 people attended the party, which included interviews on the Red Carpet of the “Stars” attending, dramatic movie dialogue trivia, Oscars bingo, and plenty of good food and drink.

March 12: Family Movie Night – The film Wall-E was shown to 70+ people who filled the Victoria Hebert Great Room. Pizza, fruit snacks, popcorn, and a moon bounce for kids were also part of the fun-filled Friday evening. Special thanks go to Cara Mia LaVanway of Weichert Realtors, who sponsored the event. A big thank you goes to Cara Mia LaVanway and David Woodhead who helped me set up the activity, and David Nguyen, Lany Villalobos, Raquel Villalobos, and Al Luna, for clean-up afterwards.

March 18: Happy Hour – The Great Room turned green and blue for a joint St. Patty’s Day/Greece Independence Day celebration. Sixty-two people attended the lively event, which began with a bagpiper calling residents to the activity. Paul Gatza played his concertina once again, providing music for a sing-a-long of Irish songs. Food was provided by Fiona’s Irish Pub and the Mediterranean Bakery. Ron Loveng baked soda bread. An Irish/Greek trivia contest was held, with Dawn Slayton and Sheila Cole the prize winners.

March 19: 1st Annual Cameron Station Father-Daughter/Mother-Son Dance – Forty-three residents in their party dresses and formal attire came to dance, participate in various contests, and enjoy snacks provided by Cameron Cafe. Thank you to Irina Babb for her generous donation to the event.

Big thanks go to each of the members and volunteers who devoted their time to producing the well-received events: Pilar Movilla Temme, Phyllis Fantazier, Norma Vargus, Rich Vargus, Gunn Chensinski, Dean Schiller, Ron Loveng, Amber Tusing, Paul Gatza, David Nguyen, Lany Villalobos, Raquel Villalobos, Sandra Troutman, Joani Myers, Jerry Graves, Sheila Cole, Penny Waite, David Woodhead, Pat Sugrue, Ann Fry, Al Luna, and Kapoor Jyotika Gavri.

Details and photos of recent events are posted on Facebook accounts – Cameron Station Neighbors and Cameron Station Marketplace. Residents are encouraged to RSVP their attendance once events are posted to these Facebook accounts, so that we can obtain estimates in purchasing food for everyone.

Several events and activities are planned for Spring and Summer. Stay tuned: both familiar and NEW and exciting events are in store for the community.

May 8: Tea Time
May 20: Adult BYOB Happy Hour

A theft was reported in the Fitness Center on Saturday, March 12 at approximately 7:50pm. A wallet was taken from a ProFIT employee's purse located behind the front desk at the Fitness Center. The theft has been reported to the Alexandria Police Department. Please make sure you lock any valuables in the lockers provided in the locker room or the security lockers located on the right as you enter the stairs leading up to the Fitness Center. “A well-made salad must have a certain uniformity; it should make perfect sense for those ingredients to share a bow.”

– Chef Yotam Ottolenghi

As temperatures rise, we tend to seek lighter meals. Enter: the salad! For former generations, a salad was iceberg lettuce with some tomato, onion, and cucumber thrown in. More recently, salads have emerged as a culinary art form all their own. Here are some of the local favorites that other Compass staff and I recommend:

Did the Primary Election Make You See Red? Or Blue? Or Purple?

The field now looks quite different from Virginia’s primary day, but you might still be curious about how your own primary vote stacked up to the rest of the state. Or the city. Or Cameron Station.

The ultimate result of the study will be a detailed, 30-year projection of likely expenditures for repairs and/or replacement of each of more than 50 physical elements. This updated reserve study will provide an accurate and cost-effective replacement schedule and funding plan for the property elements. The study will allow the Board to confirm whether the current balance ($1.3 million) and scheduled ongoing contributions ($292,000 in 2016) to the "Reserve Fund" will be adequate to pay for this work as needed. Management, in turn, will be better able to plan for the specific projects enumerated in the study for the next several years. Finally, the study helps the Board Treasurer and the FAC arrange the most suitable – and secure – investments for the funds that have been set aside for these future expenses.

West End Farmers Market: Eat Well and Have Fun!
By Susan Birchler

In the summer of 2014, my family rented a condo in downtown Toronto. For 10 blocks in any direction, the streets were packed with small shops, cafes, restaurants, green grocers, and specialty and gourmet food stores. Every restaurant, no matter how small, had tables and chairs spread out over the wide sidewalks. People spent their summer days and evenings outside: eating, chatting, people-watching, strolling about, and shopping. Talk about city-street Nirvana! We had so much fun!

You too can experience city-street Nirvana at your very own West End Farmers Market, a small pop-up version of downtown Toronto. You can stroll around, shop, eat at your leisure, meet your neighbors, chat, and even better, take a little time to play in the park. The market’s motto is “Eat Well and Have Fun,” and we try very hard to create that sense of summer-day, city-street Nirvana every week.

Everything Toronto has big, we have small, but here it is all just as enticing: farmers (Green-grocers), yummy baked goods, coffee, juice and drinks of all sorts (Cafes), lunch at one of our food trucks (Restaurants), gourmet and artisan foods (Specialty Food Stores), artisans and crafters (Small Boutiques), Rubies’ Hair Cutting Truck (Salons), and best of all: eating and relaxing outside! (Yes, you can get a haircut at the market!)

This year there will be more tables and chairs so you can sit outdoors and enjoy the day at your leisure while eating well and having fun. For breakfast, you can choose from scones, croissants, cookies, pastries, yogurt, orange juice, and coffee; and for lunch, you can grab cheese and a roll, hummus and pita bread, or something yummy from a food truck. Meet your neighbors, have a relaxing morning, and get fresh veggies and fruits for the next week.

Mimicking the streets of Toronto, you can also find everything you need for that perfect house-warming or birthday present while strolling along our market street. We have flowers, stationery, jewelry, pottery, candles, soaps, glassware, wood toys, and kitchen linens. You can even get your knives sharpened at the market! Can a Summer Sunday morning get any better than that? City-street Nirvana is within walking distance!

Please check out photos of our vendors on our website www.westendfarmersmarket.org. We have lots of new people this year, and I am adding them as they send along their pictures and descriptions.

Please “like” us on Facebook for posts on what is new, what events or special vendors will be at the market that week, which food truck will be there that Sunday, and other fun information: www.facebook.com/WestEndFarmersMarket

The market opens on Sunday, May 1, 8:30am to 1pm, and continues through October.

Come and say hello at our market manager tent! We love to meet our neighbors and have a good chat.

By the way, we welcome any neighbor who would like to help out at the market – at your leisure and on your time-line. We could use help distributing posters around the West End, fundraising, and marketing.

We also welcome any musician, dancer, acrobat, juggler, or entertainer who would like to perform at the market. Last season two high-schoolers made a bundle for their college stash. It’s always fun at the market!

Anyone interested, please contact Susan Birchler, Market Director, at sabirchler@gmail.com.
